PIERRE HERMÉ

PARIS

MARCH 20, MACARON DAY

1 DONATION, 1 MACARON FOR "AMBITIOUS ABOUT AUTISM"

Tuesday March 20, the day before Spring officially arrives, has been declared Macaron Day. This special day, initiated by Pierre Hermé Paris seven years ago, will take place in London for the first time in 2012.

On Macaron Day, connoisseurs can savour an extended range of flavours dreamed up by Pierre Hermé over the past decade. A perfect opportunity for Pierre Hermé Paris to hold a taste retrospective.

Whether you have never sampled a macaron before in your life, or are a connoisseur of the small round pastries, here is your chance to try 25 flavour combinations created by Master Pastry Chef Pierre Hermé.

In addition, Macaron Day is an opportunity for Pierre Hermé Paris to raise funds and awareness for the needs of youth with autism, an extra benefit for those who yield to the temptation of Pierre Hermé Paris macarons, and participate in the day's festivities.

Visit and donate at both London boutiques to be presented with a box of macarons.

A percentage of all sales made on Macaron Day will be donated by Pierre Hermé Paris to Ambitious about Autism.

Little is known about autism, despite the fact that it affects one in every hundred people in the UK. The partner of this first Macaron Day in the UK, Ambitious about Autism is the national charity which provides services, raises awareness, and understanding, and campaigns to make the ordinary possible for children and young people with autism. The charity exists to enable children and young people with autism to learn, thrive and achieve, and through TreeHouse School it provides specialist education.
